BIRTH OF NOVA SCOTIA QUINTUPLETS RECALLED

Birth of quintuplets near Trenton, Nova Scotia, nearly sixty years ago, is recalled by Professor Norman Ford, of the University of Toronto biological department in the October issue of the Canadian Medical Journal. They were born February 15th, 1880, at Egypt, a little settlement, three boys and two girls; to Mr. and Mrs. Adam Murray. Four of the children, according to records, died the day after birth, and the fifth the following day.

The five children were born within an hour, "all perfectly formed," according to The Eastern Chronicle, "but very miniature specimens of humanity." The mother was slightly more than thirty years of age, and had given birth to eighteen children, twins three times.

Length and weight of the quintuplets were given—"we take the undertaker's figures"—1, length 16 inches, weight 3 lbs 14 ozs; 2, 15½ inches, 3 lbs 6 ozs; 3, 14½ inches, 3 lbs 4 ozs; 4, 13½ inches, 3 lbs; 5, 13½ inches, 2 lbs 8 ozs.

The babies' total weight of 16 lbs compared with the little more than 13 lbs registered by the Dionne quintuplets when they first were weighed six days after their birth at Collard, Ontario, May 28th, 1934. Marie, Yvonne, Emilie, Cecile and Annette weighed-in at more than 200 lbs when they last were weighed on September 28th.—Ex.

The marriage took place at Calgary on Saturday last of Miss Isabel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Atkinson, to Mr. Joe Spievak both of the Calgary branch of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, and was accompanied by "Wanda," his "seeing-eye" escort, one of the most highly trained dogs for this special purpose. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson, while here, visited Mrs. D. A. Howe and Billy, in whom he has been interested for a considerable time.

JOSEPH JOSEPH PASSES

Joseph Joseph, resident of The Pass for many years, passed away at Coleman on Friday night last at the age of 55.

For some years Mr. Joseph conducted a dry goods and men's wear store at Hillcrest, but retired owing to ill health.

He is survived by his wife and eight children, ranging in age from three to twenty years; also his father, residing in Coleman; and two sisters, Mrs. Saad and Mrs. Charles Nicholas. He was a native of Syria.

The remains were laid to rest on Tuesday afternoon.

LOCAL SUPPORT NEEDED

The Yorkton Enterprise has a word to say to merchants who hand their printing to travelling salesmen, thus ignoring the local printer. It says: "The very people who give orders to those outsiders holler, the loudest about mail-order houses and others who cut into their trade, and would no doubt think this was a pretty poor community if it did not have an up-to-date printing plant and a live local newspaper. They also profess to believe that a newspaper is a worth while institution for encouraging community enterprise and organizations, but are nothing short of community parasites when it comes to doing their part to help the newspaper function as it should."

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Thompson, of Calgary, were in town during the week, registered at the Greenhill hotel. Mr. Thompson is in charge of the Calgary branch of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, and was accompanied by "Wanda," his "seeing-eye" escort, one of the most highly trained dogs for this special purpose. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson, while here, visited Mrs. D. A. Howe and Billy, in whom he has been interested for a considerable time.

SPORTS ASSOCIATION ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

The annual meeting of Blairmore Community Sports Association, held in the Oliva hall on Friday night last, was attended by about forty members.

Following reports given on the work of the association up to the present, election of officers took place, with the following results: C. J. Tompkins, president; A. E. Ferguson, vice-president; S. McDowell, secretary; W. C. Meier, treasurer; Executive: M. H. Congdon, W. H. Chappell, Delbert Ennis, Enoch Williams and Idria Evans.

Mr. Tompkins succeeds Mr. S. White, who has been president practically since the association's inception.

The meeting was quite enthusiastic, and the members look forward to a successful winter season at the arena, and in further promoting sports during the winter and next summer.

THE CALGARY HERALD PUBLICITY CAMPAIGN

Attention of Enterprise readers is directed to a series of advertisements, sponsored by The Calgary Daily Herald and appearing in our columns. The Calgary Herald is the outstanding daily newspaper circulating in Southern Alberta, and it is the intention of the management in this publicity campaign to point out to the general public, in an interesting and informative way, why people should read newspapers if they desire to be well informed.

The first in the series, entitled "Your Country Needs You," appeared in our last week's issue. "Teaching the Young Idea" is the title of the one for this week; others to follow are: "Workers for World Peace," "The World at Your Fingertips," "The Old Order Changeth" and "You Need Two Newspapers."

Each and everyone of these six advertisements tells in graphic style how newspapers are doing their part to keep readers well informed on all matters pertaining to local, national and world events. Read the interesting announcements, and if you are not already a regular newspaper reader, we believe you will want to become one before the series has been completed.

CFAC, the station of The Calgary Daily Herald, is also featuring on its radio programmes "That Was The Year," which is heard over the station every Tuesday and Friday at 8.15 p.m.

NEXT WEEK WILL BE FISH WEEK

Canada's fish week begins on Monday. In a statement issued at Ottawa this week, Hon. J. E. Michaud, minister of fisheries, said the Canadian people "who wish to help the fishermen and further the development of the fishing industry, can take an effective step in that direction by joining wholeheartedly" in the observance.

"Arrangements for fish week," the statement continued, "are made by the fishing industry itself, but the idea of observing such a week has my entire approval. I hope that the public everywhere throughout the Dominion will participate in the observance, giving thought to the national importance of the industry and making generous use of the excellent foods which the fishermen put upon the market at all seasons of the year."

"The fishing industry extends to every province and it follows that improvement in conditions in the industry as a result of increased popular interest and greater use of fish must bring benefit to every province."

BELLEVEUE JUVENILES WIN CHAMPIONSHIP

In a two-game final of the provincial championship series, played at the Blairmore stadium on Friday and Saturday last, Bellevue successfully downed the Nanton team at baseball, winning the first game 13-1 and the second 9-3. Bellevue are now holders of the coveted Manarey Cup, emblematic of the provincial juvenile championship. Two previous games, played at Nanton, were won by Bellevue, so that the second game in Blairmore was but an exhibition tilt.

If the Alberta government scheme calls for the initial deposit by the "purchaser" or the "ultimate consumer" of hard-earned cash in the provincial treasury, the scheme has nothing very much in it. It merely means that the people of Alberta are being asked to exchange legal purchasing power, properly come by, for the illegal purchasing power which Mr. Aberhart proposes to issue in the shape of "transfer vouchers." If his "vouchers" were legal, the scheme would only be the substitution of one medium of exchange for another. But surely Mr. Aberhart intends to do more than this? — Winnipeg Free Press.

Children Barred From Schools Unless Immunized Against Diphtheria

In France immunization against diphtheria has for some time been obligatory for soldiers. During the present year the provision has been extended to include all school children. All children are required to be immunized against diphtheria in the first or second year of life. No child can be admitted to school without a certificate showing that this law has been complied with. All school children up to the age of 14 years, who have not been previously protected against diphtheria must submit to immunization as soon as possible after notice has been given in the official gazette. This announcement appeared on June 3rd. The Toxoid administrations are free. It is said that as necessary outlay will be amply compensated by a marked reduction in the present mortality from diphtheria of 2,000 deaths and of over 20,000 cases annually.

In Canada, we attempt to gain the same results by education of the public as to the value of the protection afforded by immunization against diphtheria. The results have been gratifying. Whole communities where the little children have received doses of Toxoid have for years remained immune to diphtheria. The law is rapidly extending year by year. Soon, through the effect of voluntary immunization, the law will be rid of this dangerous malady.

All children have Toxoid as soon after they are six months of age as possible. The great mortality for diphtheria has been in children under the age of five, although children of all ages contract the disease. Do not neglect the use of Toxoid—your health officer or your family doctor will arrange it for you.

Trans-Canada Air Lines Give Regulations For Baggage

According to Trans-Canada Air Lines, this is what the well-dressed woman can carry with her on a flying trip without exceeding the excess baggage regulations: "Suit case 21½ inches by 16½ inches by nine inches; two street dresses; 12 handkerchiefs; jacket; one pair dinner sandals; evening gown and bag; shoe pair; six pair hose; lingerie; lightweight dressing gown; one pair mules; nightgown; jewelry case; sewing kit, rubberized toilet kit with cosmetics in lightweight containers." All this, according to T.C.A. officials who claim to be versed in such matters, weighs three pounds less than the maximum 35 pounds of baggage allowed each passenger without charge. Furthermore, they state a woman can exist for six weeks with such an outfit. Men, they complain, are forever carrying too much luggage and are always a problem to air-line baggage masters.

Cats Live In Luxury

Nothing Too Good For Six Pets Of English Woman

In a nine-roomed house overlooking the sea at Barton, ten miles from Bournemouth, England, six cats live in the lap of luxury.

Each has its own room, bed and dishes, and a housekeeper is employed to look after their every want. Four times a week a taxi from Bournemouth brings their food—beef steak, fish, rabbits, milk and cream.

The cats are the property of Mrs. Agnes Burrell of Bournemouth. Originally she had only one cat, but it so captivated Mrs. Burrell, a childless widow, that she became the extraordinary lover of cats that she is to-day. They are her main interest in life and nothing is too good for them.

Horses Of R.C.M.P. Giving Place To Cars And Planes

That picture of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, astride his faithful steed, scanning the prairie stretches with hand upraised to hat brim against the rays of the setting sun, favorite of artists, magazine readers and movie fans, is giving place in real life to more modern settings. Soon the northern constable, on patrol, will be peering from the window of a speeding aeroplane. And, according to recent announcements, police detachments will be listening for the voice of the wireless "calling all cars."—Edmonton Journal.

Built Up Good Business

Hollander Sold Bulbs For High Prices To Wealthy Americans

John Theodore Scheepers, premier agent in this country for the Holland bulb industry, who made himself rich by selling bulbs to wealthy persons at higher prices than his competitors demanded, died of heart disease in New York.

Mr. Scheepers was able to command high prices for his bulbs largely because he emphasized the esthetic and deprecated commercialism when dealing with his well-to-do customers. He idealized the flower for which his native Holland is famous, and injected a new technique into bulb salesmanship. As a result, he sold some of his tulips for $500 each and rare daffodils at $250 a bulb. Some of his bulbs for large plantings on Long Island estates ran as high as $50,000.

In 1932 he was knighted by Queen Wilhelmina in the Order of Orange-Nassau. He conducted "garden lovers' pilgrimages" to Holland in 1935 and 1936.

Not long before his death he provided 1,000,000 flower bulbs for planting in the grounds of the New York World's Fair 1939.

In 1911 he started his own business, selling tulips to greenhouseers. In later life he looked upon these two years with distaste because of their excessive commercialism. When dealing subsequently with his wealthy private customers about the only commercial note that entered the negotiations was when he sent around his bill.

At the suggestion of a friend he gave up selling to greenhouses and began catering to the wealthy. He went up to Newport, R.I., in a second-hand Ford and there the first friend he made was Mrs. Ellen Vanderhill. She paid him $1,000 for a small collection of bulbs.

She told her friends where they could buy the bulbs and when he left Newport he had $50,000 in orders. His clientele of select customers grew steadily. His competitors found it hard to understand how he could outsell them at such high prices. His customers were buying fantastic delights and old-world fantasies in blossoms instead of just tulips. He even charged $3 each for his catalogues while his competitors were furnishing theirs free.

Sometimes, however, customers were enraged by the bills. One man was so indignant that he dug up the bulbs and sent them back. Another refused to pay a bill of $50,000. Mr. Scheepers sued him and the case was settled out of court for $30,000.

Collective Security

Justice In The End Is Sure To Prevail

The phrase "collective security" has come to have a bitter taste in men's mouths. Yet in the long run there is no choice between collective security and ruin. In the long run the lives and property of peaceable, non-offending men and women of peaceable, non-offending nations will be made safe or civilization will die. And it will not die. It is a far tougher organism than those who assail it and those who betray it are willing to believe. It has come out of pain and sweat and sacrifice. It has come out of the minds and hearts of men and women turning away from ease and softness to do hard tasks. It has come out of hopes and dreams and visions. It has been defended on battlefields and on sinking ships and in the narrow rooms of poverty. Those who have built it, those who now sustain it—the humble and obscure as well as the powerful—are slow to anger, but, like the mills of God, when once aroused they grind exceeding mankind. They can be driven back and defeated for a day, a week, a year, but not forever. There is a justice in the world, cherished in men's hearts, and let there be no doubt of it—in the end it will prevail.—N.Y. Times.

Rewarded For Kindness

Ballet Dancer And Hospital Attendant Receives Large Fortune

It's a story strange as fiction with a typical surprise ending—this true-life tale of how a former assistant theatre manager and a ballet dancer were kind to an eccentric old woman and reaped an estimated $1,000,000 reward.

The woman was 70-year-old Mrs. Edna Moss, an Elliot, a quaint haunter of film houses who became known as "New York's Champion Movie Fan".

A feminine hermit, she died friendless and alone in her three-story brownstone house in West 88th street.

Her will disclosed she had left securities and $80,000 in jewels to Rosalie Spatcher, a ballet dancer, and the residue to William Reilly, former assistant manager of the Roxy Theatre. They had "helped to make the recent years of my life more pleasant," Mrs. Elliott wrote in her will.

Reilly, whose sudden wealth lifted him from a $25-a-month hospital attendant's post, said attorneys told him the estate was valued at $1,000,000.

He said when he first met Mrs. Elliott in 1927 he thought she was poor—she wore old-fashioned dresses with leg o'mutton sleeves—and arranged for her to have a front row seat every Thursday when the theatre changed its program. Afterward he would discuss the show with her briefly.

The theatre closed temporarily in 1932 and Reilly lost his job. He never saw Mrs. Elliott again.

Then began attending Radio City Music Hall and during the bearish Miss Spatcher often walked over to chat with the lonely old woman in the front row seat. She never knew Mrs. Elliott's identity or saw her outside the theatre.

It was some time before Reilly learned of his fortune. He said he had dodged Mrs. Elliott's lawyers for several days—thinking they were trying to serve him with a summons.

Considered World Record

Way In Which Britain Has Eliminated Slum Houses

The Municipal Journal, London, says nearly one thousand persons are being moved every day in Great Britain from slum houses to new and decent dwellings.

To-day one-third of the population are living in post-war houses. Since the end of the war over three and a half million new houses have been provided in England and Wales, and of these more than a million have been built by local authorities.

What other country can show such a record in this sphere of social improvement?

More Health In Bread

The fact that the hitherto discarded embryo of the wheat kernel contains enormous nutritive value might well be used to advantage in promoting the more extensive use of the major bread cereal in this country, provided the millers can be persuaded to reform their manufacturing methods to ensure that the full value of the grain is passed on to the consuming public.

By eliminating the embryo from the milled product millers have been able to produce a flour which yields a presumably very fine white loaf, extremely attractive in appearance, and therefore readily saleable among the public.

Unfortunately, however, the desire to present to the public a white loaf of seeming beauty has resulted in the sacrifice of some of the wheat's most healthful ingredients and substances essential to the support of a well balanced diet.

When one considers the substantial percentage of the nation's bulk food formed by bread the enormous loss to the consumer represented in the rejection of its most nutritive ingredients is more than unfortunate. It might more properly be termed a calamity.

A Stimulant To Consumption

Doctors and dietitians have known of the health value of whole wheat flour for some considerable time and almost daily one reads of the advocacy by prominent members of the medical profession and medical writers of the use of whole wheat bread as a health measure and as a corrective for certain forms of indigestion and weakening teeth.

It is only comparatively recently, however, that the full extent of the worth of whole wheat bread as a builder of a sound human frame has been determined by scientific and analytical processes as well as by the results of practical experimentation on the human constitution.

These scientific discoveries show that the embryo, or germ, of the wheat kernel is rich in vitamins A and B, E and G, all of them of great value in building up the human body and all playing their part in preserving it in a healthful condition; yet these valuable constituents, under present methods of manufacturing flour are treated as offal and thrown into the discard.

That the consuming public is not yet fully awakened to the loss it is sustaining as a result of existing milling practices is quite evident; otherwise there would be an insistent demand for bread made from whole wheat flour. When consumers recognize the value in terms of health represented in bread baked from flour containing the entire germ, no doubt the millers will accede to public request without raising any objection, and the knowledge that the bread they then get is doing much to promote their health should stimulate the public to increase its consumption of bread.

A Worthwhile Study

Commenting upon these discoveries the Western Retailer in an article in its September issue printed some remarks well worthy of study when it said:

"It is high time that the Canadian Government, the milling interests and bakers joined together, to give the Canadian public the real facts about the food value of wheat. Especially is this true in view of the fact that every advance in knowledge that has been made by science in the last thirty years has tended to show that one of the richest sources of needful vitamins (which are now becoming better understood) is the embryo of the wheat berry.

"The first baker to show the public a loaf of bread in which the full value of the embryo has been retained should receive the grateful thanks of the wheat farmer, the grain interests and every public servant whose interest is maintaining public health."

Education Needed

Those who are fortunate enough to be able to get bread baked from genuine whole wheat flour are well aware that the loaf thus produced is darker in appearance than the bread produced by "artificialized" white flour and the baker who produces such a loaf is not likely to get all the thanks he deserves, unless the public is prepared to accept his product.

In other words what is required is a program of public education on the virtues of whole wheat bread as the first step towards creating the necessary demand. Should the governments decide upon such a program, there is little doubt that they would receive the hearty support of the medical profession and of all those who are now aware of the health value of the wheat germ.

The economic importance of such a program should not be overlooked either, for a realization of the value of bread to health would naturally be followed by an increased consumption and bread would, in actual fact, again become the staff of life and health.

A Conductor's Privilege

The question of whether a conductor can jump aboard his moving bus has been settled in magistrate's court at Georgetown, British Guiana. Conductor Albert Manrow was charged under a traffic ordinance with boarding the moving vehicle. The magistrate acquitted him, ruling the conductor had the "lawful authority" to do so.

Where Fear Reigns

The Buffalo Courier-Express says if the German people appeared apathetic to the impending shadow of war, it might be due to the difficulties of expressing one's fears openly in a country where there are suspiciously broken up as a crowd, police attend every social gathering and even the woods have dictaphonic ears.

Amsterdam has a river called "U". China has a city called "U", and Sweden has a town called "A".

Has Nice Little Job

Charles Smith, head keeper of the San Diego Zoo, has a neat little job on his hands—driving two giraffes from New York to California in a truck. Giraffes are regarded as the hardest of all animals to transport, and this is the first time a transcontinental shipment will be tried by truck. The giraffes are coming in from Africa on a freighter.

Trench Revealed Coal

One Leeds resident reaped a neat little profit from England's mid-winter war scare. The last five feet of a nine-foot trench Henry Varley dug to shelter his family from air raids turned out to be coal. He shovelled out two tons and there was no sign the seam was near exhaustion.

SECURE DATA ON FAMILY BUDGETS ACROSS CANADA

Ottawa.—Field agents of the Bureau of statistics this week in 12 Canadian cities started gathering data from specially selected families as to weekly expenditures on food, clothing and other costs which enter into the family budget. Dr. R. H. Coats, Dominion statistician, announced $5 or 90 field agents were at work.

Surveys are being made in Charlottetown, Halifax, Saint John, Quebec, Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, London, Winnipeg, Saskatoon, Edmonton and Vancouver. Data from 5,000 families will be available the end of October.

The survey is part of a world-wide movement to get actual statistics concerning nutrition and the ordinary ratios of the ordinary family—leading to whether the family income is adequate to provide proper nourishment and other necessities.

Last session parliament voted $25,000 for the undertaking. The results will be submitted to the Canadian council on nutrition.

For months experts from the health department, national research council, agricultural and labor departments have been preparing for the survey, deciding on the questions to be asked the housewives, the type of families to be selected for study, the period for which data would be gathered.

Typical families with incomes of $2,500 a year and less were decided upon. Families of Anglo-Saxon, Anglo-Saxon and other racial origins will be studied separately.

Supervisors were named in each city to organize the survey. They had to engage field agents. For the most part these are social service workers accustomed to visiting homes. Families selected are under no obligation to co-operate. They can order the agent out of their houses if they wish.

This week 5,000 housewives have begun entering each day what they spend on bread, on meat, on milk, and so on. Meals taken downtown have to be entered, as well as expenditures on candy, ice cream and drink outside the home.

The agriculture department has been brought into the undertaking because it is believed the information will enable it to advise the farmers and distributors of farm produce in what lines the domestic consumption could be increased and in what lines present consumption is sufficient.

Trans-Canada Airlines

Expected That Service, Should Be Self-Sustaining

Montreal.—Once operating on a regular schedule basis with reasonable mail contracts and normal passenger traffic, Trans-Canada Airlines should be "self-sustaining" if kept small and flexible, Philip G. Johnson, operating officer, here said.

Mr. Johnson told reporters he could not set a definite date for starting of regular service on the transcontinental line. Pilots and ground personnel were still engaged in experimental flights between Montreal and Winnipeg and Winnipeg and the west coast.

Aeroplane aids will not be used. When snow comes, the landing fields will be kept well rolled so big planes can land safely on wheels.

Passenger flights will come first on the western division across the prairies and the Rockies, the vice-president said. Passenger tariff schedules were in course of preparation on a basic rate of about six cents a mile, roughly a little more than rail fare plus Pullman rates. Trans-Canada Airlines, he pointed out, were required by law to provide rates comparable with those on competing lines on the United States transcontinental routes and other competitors.

Service from Montreal to the maritime provinces would be deferred at least until 1939.

Receives Appointment

Ottawa.—A. J. Darbey, former poultry fieldman in Saskatchewan, has been appointed senior poultry fieldman in the Dominion department of agriculture, it was announced. He will act as chief assistant in the administration of the poultry production service with particular jurisdiction in the record of performance and hatchery approval work.

Lord Shaftesbury

Son Of Late Chairman Of Canadian Pacific Railway, Dies In Montreal

Montreal.—Lord Shaftesbury, son of the first Baron Shaftesbury, late chairman of Canadian Pacific Railway Company, died in hospital of double pneumonia. He was 55.

The younger Shaftesbury was born in Montreal, Sept. 28, 1883, and received his early education at Bishop's college school at Lennoxville, Que., later attending McGill University and Laval University in Montreal and Trinity College, Cambridge, England.

On completion of his studies in 1910 he entered the law firm of Meredith, Macpherson, Hagan and Holden, becoming a partner in 1912. Eight years later he was appointed king's counsel.

As adjutant he went overseas with the Irish Canadian Rangers and was transferred in France to general headquarters, Canadian section, and later served as aide-de-camp to the late General Sir Arthur Currie.

In 1920 the Canadian Irish Rangers were amalgamated with the 189th Irish Canadian Rangers and Adjutant Shaftesbury took command in the rank of lieutenant-colonel.

In addition to his law practice, Lord Shaftesbury was associated with a number of financial houses and served as director of the C.P.R. and West Kootenay Power and Light Company.

Survivors include three daughters and one son. His wife, Marian Laura Graham, niece of the late Lord Atholstan, died several years ago.

Proposes Home For Eskimos

Aged Men Deserted By Tribes Says Bishop Of Arctic

Ottawa.—Members of the Northwest Territories Council have received a proposal from Dr. Rev. A. L. Fleming, Anglican bishop of the Arctic, that the Dominion government contribute to the building of a home for aged Eskimos at Pangnirtung, Baffin Island, 30 miles south of the Arctic circle. The proposal has not yet been acted upon by the council, a group of government officials who administer the Territories.

Bishop Fleming mentioned the need for such a home in a sermon to the congregation of St. Paul's church in Toronto recently. He called the custom of pagan Eskimos deserting aged members of the tribes "appalling."

Government Spain, meanwhile, is completing plans for evacuating all foreign fighters on its side. Travelers reaching the French frontier said approximately 1,000 North Americans, including those in medical and transport services, would be among those to leave soon.

An armistice on present military lines automatically would split Spain into two states, undoubtedly hostile to each other at first. But the view in London quarters was that eventually commercial and then other relations would be established between the two Spanish states leading to some better basis for permanent peace in Spain.

Camps For Jobless

British Columbia Is Planning To Care For Single Men

Victoria.—Camps to provide work for homeless single unemployed in British Columbia will be opened again this winter, it was announced by Hon. George S. Pearson. The provincial minister of labor said an arrangement "somewhat along the same lines as last year" would be made with the federal government to care for single men.

Mr. Pearson has just returned from Ottawa where he discussed the problem with Hon. Norman Rogers, federal labor minister.

He said the agreement between the two governments covering the scheme has not yet been signed but will be when several unsettled details are decided.

Soviet Russia's Stand

British Government Remains Calm Over Franco-Russia Treaty Break

London.—British government circles remained unperturbed at Soviet Russia's indication she will denounce the Franco-Soviet treaty.

Some circles favorable to the government welcomed the move as removing a barrier in the way of concluding a four-power western European pact. These circles have privately advocated cancellation of the Franco-Soviet pact for some time.

The indication from Moscow that Soviet Russia regards France as without an ally in Europe except Great Britain struck gloom into the hearts of anti-government elements. They feared it was a sign that London and Paris were now condemned to face greater Germany alone should the fudher ever decide to turn back west.

Toronto.—Lady Tweedsmuir, wife of Lord Tweedsmuir, governor-general of Canada, will receive an honorary degree of doctor of laws from University of Toronto at a special convocation Oct. 14, it was announced. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, minister of justice, and W. Sherwood Fox, president of University Ontario, will receive similar degrees. 2276

Record Grain Shipments

Terminals At Edmonton And Calgary Filled To Capacity

Calgary.—Terminals on the Canadian government elevator system at Edmonton and Calgary, which have a storage capacity of approximately 5,000,000 bushels of grain, were reported filled to capacity on Oct. 4.

An embargo following record shipments during September has been placed on incoming shipments from country points to the terminals.

Seventeen million bushels of grain, transported in 10,000 cars and valued at $9,600,000, were moved through Calgary during September.

This was a new record, establishing an all-time high since the grain inspection service was established here some 40 years ago.

REJECT PLAN TO SPLIT SPAIN INTO TWO NATIONS

Paris.—A plan to partition Spain into two nations—one a democracy, the other a dictatorship—has been brushed to the Spanish government, which rejected it, government spokesmen here disclosed.

They asserted the plan, its original obscure, would form part of international discussions aimed at ending the Spanish war as part of a general European settlement.

It was hinted "certain powers" brought up the Spanish partition scheme at the Munich party Sept. 30 which arranged for giving German slices of Czechoslovakia, Europe's other major trouble zone.

At all events it was clear the Spanish problem, temporarily displaced by the Czechoslovak crisis, had come to the fore again since it figured in all talk of a four-power agreement for appeasing Europe. Great Britain, France, Germany and Italy would be the powers involved.

In Rome the British ambassador, Lord Perth, and Foreign Minister Count Ciano have been holding conferences believed aimed at putting the Anglo-Italian Easter friendship pact into effect.

A Spanish "settlement" presumably involving withdrawal of Italian soldiers fighting with the insurgents, was a prior condition Britain made to operation of that pact.

Premier Juan Negrin, speaking in the cortes (parliament) recently, indicated he opposed such a division of the nation.

Government Spain, meanwhile, is completing plans for evacuating all foreign fighters on its side. Travelers reaching the French frontier said approximately 1,000 North Americans, including those in medical and transport services, would be among those to leave soon.

An armistice on present military lines automatically would split Spain into two states, undoubtedly hostile to each other at first. But the view in London quarters was that eventually commercial and then other relations would be established between the two Spanish states leading to some better basis for permanent peace in Spain.

Freight Rate Argument

Request By Lake Shippers For Increase Is Refused

Ottawa.—A request by lake shippers that a temporary maximum rate of 7½ cents a bushel be set for the shipment of wheat from the lakehead to St. Lawrence ports was refused by the board of grain commissioners.

The request was made as shippers sought an increase in the maximum rate of seven cents set recently by the board. They requested to be allowed to accept orders at 7½ cents while the board considered their representations. The effect of the decision is to continue the seven cent rate which took effect Oct. 1, at least until the board reaches a decision on the representations.

In their argument the shippers held the maximum of 7 cents was too low and threatened the continued operation of lake boats. They argued they suffered from losses in several years and asked to be allowed to charge what they considered reasonable rates this season to help them make up their losses.

Grey Owl's Estate

Difficulty Arises Over Disposition Of Noted Author's Fortune

Toronto.—Hugh Eszary, Toronto publisher, said in an address the "considerable fortune" of Grey Owl, noted author and naturalist who died early this year, has not been distributed because of conflicting claims against the estate.

Disposition of the estate, he said, was found difficult because of publicity surrounding the identity of Grey Owl. His widow had been unable to collect any part of it.

Following the death of the naturalist, who had described himself as a half-breed, it was stated in some quarters he was born in England of white parents.

Settling Labor Disputes

More National Way Must Be Found To Determine Wages

Toronto.—President Charles W. Chase of the American Transit Association, said a national, peaceable manner of determining wages must be found to replace the present arbitral methods of settling labor disputes which had proven a failure.

"Labor and management, representing capital invested," he said at the opening of the 57th annual convention of the association, "must find a rational, peaceable means of determining and insuring the payment of as high wages to labor employed, under the best working conditions possible, as the earnings of the enterprise will permit."

He said this should be accomplished "while still maintaining the continued existence of the property, its credit, a reasonable return to its owner, and the furnishing of an efficient and modern service of the character the public demands and is entitled to."

MUNICH PACT IS DENOUNCED BY CHURCHILL

London.—Drawing on all the bitterness and force of his oratorical ability, Winston Churchill swept into the leadership of parliamentary forces arrayed against Prime Minister Chamberlain's bargain with Chancellor Hitler as incorporated in the Munich agreement.

Mr. Churchill predicted Great Britain would rue the day the Munich agreement was signed by Mr. Chamberlain, Chancellor Hitler, Premier Mussolini and Premier Daladier. It was "a total, unmitigated defeat," would lead to German domination in Europe, would result in the small nations distrusting French and British friendship—and might mean the destruction of the democracies themselves.

Here are some typical Churchill sentences:

"The utmost the prime minister was able to gain for Czechoslovakia has been that the German dictator, who has been making his victims from the table, has been content to have them served to him course by course."

"Britain should have declared a state of war long ago. It would have done so with others to protect Czechoslovakia against unprovoked aggression. The government refused to give a guarantee when it would have saved the world, yet it gave it too late and for the future reserved it when they had not the slightest power to make it good."

"You have to consider the character of the Nazi movement and the role which it plays. A power which burns Christian ethics, which cheers its onward progress by barbarous paganism and vaunts a spirit of aggression and conquest, which drives strength and pleasure from persecuted persecution and uses threats of murderous force—that power cannot ever be the trusted friend of British democracy."

"The people should know there has been gross neglect in our defence, and that we suffered defeat without war, the consequences of which will travel far with us along the road. The people should know we have passed an awful milestone; that the whole equilibrium of Europe has been changed."

"Mr. Churchill urged concentration on the rearmament program in an effort to retrieve Britain's prestige, defensively and diplomatically. Industry should be mobilized immediately. There must be supremacy in the air."

Richard Acland (Liberal), who returned recently from Czechoslovakia, told the house: "I saw in Prague a young Czech woman with the mark of a swastika branded on her chest with a red hot iron, and a doctor who was with me told me he had treated that morning an eight months old baby with the sign of the swastika the size of a shilling branded on its face."

"Those are the devils to whom you have handed over these decent innocent people," he shouted across at the government benches.

Mr. Acland also claimed British diplomacy sank to a new low level when the British ambassador in Poland was told to go to hell. It was said in Polish that that was what was meant."

FRANCE WANTS TO KEEP RUSSIA AS AN ALLY

Paris.—Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet intimated before the foreign affairs committee of the chamber of deputies that France still wants the Soviet Union's big army on her side despite any agreement she may reach with Germany.

The reading of a telegram from Hitler to former premier Pierre Flandin caused an uproar at another point in the committee meeting. The fudher, thanked Flandin for his efforts toward "complete collaboration between France and Germany."

Bonnet said he "hoped" Russia would join the projected international guarantee of what is to be left of Czechoslovakia. Committee members said he expressed the stand of the French government.

Reichsfuhrer Hitler has been reported insistently opposed to Russian participation in the guarantee.

It appeared the French and British governments had ruled against exclusion of Russia.

Still another development in the crisis aftermath was a move by Premier Daladier to demobilize French armed forces despite little indication Germany was taking similar steps.

Bonnet's reference to Russia as interpreted in conjunction with that of Sir John Simon in the British House of Commons when Sir John, member of Prime Minister Chamberlain's "inner cabinet," said: "It is our hope that Russia will be willing to join in the guarantee of Czechoslovakia. It is most important that she should do so."

The Munich conference which decided Czechoslovakia should be dismembered to meet Hitler's demands, excluded Russia.

The resulting accord of Britain, France, Italy and Germany had been interpreted in some quarters as the signing of a four-power directorate of European affairs with Russia left out.

Flandin, a leader of the right in the chamber, acknowledged authentically the "Hitler telegram and said: "I am not going to ignore this incident." Before the Munich accord Flandin advocated refusal to honor the French mutual assistance pledge to Czechoslovakia.

National Marketing Policy

Is Great Need Of Western Canada Opinion Of Saskatoon Man

Saskatoon.—Formulation of a national marketing policy, and creation of a national commission for establishing markets for Canadian farm products in the large centers of population on the European continent, as well as in the United Kingdom, were described as the greatest needs of the western Canadian producer by W. A. Landreth, of Winnipeg, president of the Western Canadian Producers' Association, in an address here to a service club.

"We have advanced far past the time when we could market any surplus produce in eastern Canada," Mr. Landreth stated. "Partly because the east is not able to absorb as much of our goods as formerly, and partly because our production has increased greatly, we must look overseas if our western farmers are to have any permanent prosperity."

"I am speaking particularly," Mr. Landreth explained, "of our western production of butter, eggs, cheese, and poultry meats. For a long time we have been producing large surpluses of these, and of good quality, and our overseas market is pretty well established now. But in the other lines I have mentioned, there is still the greatest need for a national commission to study the markets, create new markets, and inform our producers as to how to go about capturing these new markets."

WHY THE OPPOSITION?

Social Creditors often say they can not understand why the Echo or even anyone—including the other political parties—want to oppose the Social Credit doctrine and government.

Now is a good time for an honest confession of the answer to that.

In the first place, speaking as the Echo, we are not opposing what may be called the economic theory of social credit, for the simple reason that we have never had the theory satisfactorily explained nor has it been practically demonstrated in Alberta since 1935.

Our opposition, then, is to the so-called Social Credit government as led by Premier Aberhart.

Very concisely we feel in duty bound to oppose it, because:

1. The Aberhart government has not kept his election promises—in fact, has reversed them (taxes have been raised, not lowered).

2. The Aberhart government has demonstrated it is not competent to make or administer the laws of the province. The excuse that it has been blocked by the Federal government will not satisfy us, because Aberhart claimed in 1935 he could put in Social Credit (which meant dividends of $25 to $75 a month for everybody, with interest-free loans to farmers) without going contrary to the Dominion government or the Canadian constitution.

3. Mr. Aberhart and his government are saying nothing about the dividend bribe now, but pleading for continued support on the ground that they alone are standing between the common people and the money barons, who seek to crush them. This is cheap propaganda without a atom of proof. He has not attempted settlement with mortgage companies or bond holders, but merely postponed settlement.

4. The Aberhart government has oppressed the people with increased taxes, licenses and control more than any financial shynock could dream of. It has pyramided penalties on taxes and taken title to the farmers' land as no loan company has ever done.

These and others are clear reasons why the government should be opposed. They obtained power under false pretenses and have squandered hundreds of thousands of dollars of the hard earnings of "my poor suffering people" in senseless legislation and litigation, and deserve to be ignominiously kicked out.—Athabasca Echo.

The Calgary Retail Merchants' Association decided to take no action in connection with the Alberta government's interim programme and credit house system, but would leave the matter clearly in the hands of individual merchants as to what they should do. NEWS FROM EDMONTON

(T. R. Widdows)

Edmonton, Oct. 11.—Premier Aberhart believes in the good old military tactics based on the assumption that to attack is the best defence, but in his opinion it doesn't matter a whoop what weapons you attack with, it appears, even if the weapon is a boomerang. During the week past the premier undertook to reply to criticisms of his September 25th public utterance about the "foolish conception of contractual obligations which demands its fulfilment no matter what the conditions are."

Unbelievable as it may seem, the words just above quoted are actually written from the text of what the premier said he said. At least the tirade of Mr. Aberhart against the newspapers in connection with this incident has placed him definitely on record in his own statement as having said exactly what the newspapers reported that he said. It is difficult to follow the method of reasoning the premier followed in thinking his reply exonerated him from the charge of having made untrue statements at a time when Britain and the Empire were passing through critical days.

The Edmonton Journal printed Premier Aberhart's statement in full, though it was full of unwarranted vituperation against the paper itself, and at the same time the Journal printed side by side the report of what it said the premier said and his own statement of what he said—and there was no difference, no "misrepresentation" or misquotation.

Further light was flashed on the government's "credit house" scheme during the week when the government called Edmonton merchants together in the Masonic hall, and members of the government, aided by Glen L. MacLachlan, M.L.A., and G. A. Clash, newly appointed head of the provincial marketing board, spoke in explanation of the "interim program" as it connects with "credit houses."

It was explained to the Edmonton and Calgary merchants at meetings held, respectively, Thursday and Friday in the two cities, that it was planned to provide trade marks for Alberta-made goods and identifying labels for stores co-operating with the government's new interim plan. There were about 200 merchants present in Edmonton, and reports from Calgary state that about 300 attended there. Nine hundred invitations were sent out for the Edmonton gathering.

Hon. Solon Low announced at the meeting that extension of the credit house plan to various services such as banks perform, such as collections through drafts, transmission of funds, and paying agencies, would be undertaken as the plan developed. Speakers stressed the importance of the retailers' role in the commercial and industrial set-up of the province.

G. A. Clash stated that the products of the 902 factories now operating in the province will be examined by the government, certified, and stamped with a label containing the words, "What Alberta Makes Alberta."

The new surgery building, in connection with the Coleman miners' hospital, has been officially opened. It is a beautiful structure, the work of Contractor D'Appolonia, and is said to have cost, without equipment, in the neighborhood of $4,300. It contains two consulting rooms, a dispensing room, a meeting room for the hospital board, a commodious waiting room and a bathroom.

The hair underneath will only require washing once in eight years.

O men of state, within whose grasp was held—
For one brief space—the fate of nations;
Whose one word could plunge the smiling earth
Into a hell beyond our frail conception—
Hadst ye but bidden man 'gainst man to rise
In combat fierce, before our anguished eyes.

All honour unto thee, in that ye met,
And to thy conference bade one gentle guest.
Perchance ye knew not; yet, that kindly One
Didst commune with thee, tenderly
Guiding the workings of thy clear, keen mind—
Moulding them to obedience of His will.
In His command to man: "Thou shalt not kill!"

O blessed ones, all earthly glory pales
Before the mightier valour of the soul;

Thou hast achieved Kingdoms fair with Peace—
Where children play, and greed and hatred cease.
No field of battle, however bravely won,
Couldst blazon Christ as ye today have done.

Tompkins: "Do you want a straight life?"
John: "Well, I like to step out once in a while."

Mrs. Brown was an overly conscientious person. Therefore, when she engaged a new maid, she asked as many questions as are asked in a civil service examination.

"Have you," she asked sternly, "any religious views?"

"No, ma'am, I haven't," answered the girl, "but I've got some dandy snapshots of Niagara Falls and the Grand Rapids."

TEACHING THE YOUNG IDEA

Your boy may not have exhibited any particular signs of genius but, if he is a normal youngster, he shows a healthy curiosity about things. He wants to know what is going on around him and what it means.

His teacher will tell you that his craving for knowledge is just as natural and healthy a sign as a good appetite. His brain gets as hungry for information as his body for food, and it is just as important that it should be satisfied.

Nothing you can give him will provide such a fund of interesting and varied information as a newspaper. A good newspaper is a potent stimulus to thought and development. It is the history of today, covering every field of human endeavor. You will find few teachers who do not read a newspaper. They know its value in keeping a mind alert and in tune with the times.

Give your family this important advantage. It means so much to young and inquiring minds.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

Picturing Children Indoors

Floodlight from almost directly overhead makes the child's figure stand out against a background of rich shadow. The picture was snapped when the subject had forgotten there was a camera near.

PARENTS usually think of outdoor and sunny summer days as the proper place and time for picturing children, and once this was true, before the advent of fast films and electric light bulbs especially designed for amateur photography, daytime was the only time snapshotters could work. Today that is no longer the case.

Nowadays, pleasing child pictures may be taken inside the home either by day or night, and more amateurs are taking them. This is partly because the home provides an ideal setting for pictures one wants to keep, and partly because the photographer can control his light to make pictures more interesting.

The modern large-sized amateur flood bulbs are so powerful that the camera worker can put two of them in reflectors three to four feet from his subject, and take snapshots as he would outdoors, with an ordinary box camera. The camera is, of course, loaded with super-sensitive film and its lens set at the largest opening. Other cameras can be used at 1/25 second shutter speed and f/8 or f/11 lens opening.

Ability to take snapshots like this is a great help in obtaining natural, unposed child pictures. It is no longer necessary to take "time" exposures or to tell the child to "hold very still." Now his toys can be placed in the circle of light cast by the flood bulbs, and as soon as he is absorbed in them, and unconscious of the camera—snap goes the shutter and the picture is made!

There is a variety of lighting arrangements one can use on child pictures. For a cheerful, joyous effect, everything in the picture should be light in tone, and there should be even illumination, with no deep shadows. However, when a dramatic effect is desired, illumination can be restricted to the child's face and hair, with everything else in deep shadow. This tends to give the impression of a very small child in a very large room; sometimes an effect of loneliness which is more appealing than if the picture were bright and carefree.

Beautiful "high-key" effects can be obtained with the child on a window-seat where daylight diffuses through the curtains, and bright floodlight inside so that there are no dark areas or masses of shadow. The child's clothing should be light in color. Good balancing of light will give a picture that is almost all white and lighter tones of gray, with just enough shadow here and there for accents. "Backlighting," as from the window, can also be obtained with artificial light, a bulb being placed behind the child so that the hair becomes a bright, silky halo. Start today to keep a picture diary of your children.

Still A Popular Attraction

Thousands Visit Imperial War Museum in London Every Year

Relics of the great war continue to attract thousands in London. An official report shows approximately 350,000 people visit the Imperial war museum annually. New additions to the museum's exhibits include a steel helmet worn by King George V on Wythecliffe ridge on July 4, 1917, and souvenirs picked up by the King at Vimy ridge on the same visit to France. Also there is the King's copy of the message he sent to the troops of the expeditionary force on Aug. 12, 1914. Inquiries made at the museum cover every aspect of the war. Some of them show the influence of current events. All but one of these inquiries has been answered. The question which has completely baffled the librarian is the origin of the word "blimp".

Commenting on this, the News-Chronicle remarks: "But, really, what other name was possible for those sausage-like balloons — and sausage-minded colonels?"

Coal For British Ships

Ship To Be Built To Show The Advantages Of Coal

An experimental ship, costing approximately £80,000 (about $400,000) will be built in Britain to demonstrate the advantages of coal as fuel.

With the moral support of the admiralty, the undertaking is being promoted by interests represented on the mines department committee, which has been examining possibilities of increasing in the national interest, use of coal for bunkering purposes.

The type of ship to be built will be in the cargo and intermediate passenger liner, considered to have the best chances of competing successfully with oil. A company, to be formed if the experiment proves a success, will undertake construction of a fleet of similar vessels.

Criticism of the policy of using oil instead of coal by the British navy and much of the mercantile fleet, has been growing in recent months. The critics contend national security is menaced by dependence on foreign sources for fuel supplies. They also argue that the rapid elimination of coal as ship's fuel is undermining the vital coal industry.

A number of naval authorities and navigation leaders have given their support to the coal campaign, but Rear-Admiral G. W. Baldwin, now retired, believes there have been sound reasons for favoring oil.

"During the past 40 years," he says, "the fixed policy of successive boards of the admiralty has been the gradual elimination of coal from the fleet in favor of liquid fuel. Similar changes have been effected in other navies and all of them with one object—to obtain from each ton of warship displacement the maximum of such desirable and essential features as gun-power, armor, watertight sub-division, speed, fuel and endurance."

Growing In Popularity

Air-Conditioning Will Soon Be Regular Feature In Homes

Mark Twain was wrong. He said "Everybody talks about the weather, but nobody does anything about it." Heating engineers have been studying it and have discovered that it is not enough to have the right degree of temperature in our homes, but to make us comfortable, we must have the right amount of moisture, the air in motion, and free from dust particles. They are about to change the weather in our homes, making them cool and less damp in summer and warm and properly humidified in winter. This new process they call air conditioning.

By evaporating water in the heating plant they can humidify the air. Filters can clean it, and blowers can keep it in motion. It will be more difficult and more expensive—to take out some of the moisture from the air and keep it in motion and filtered in the summer.

Many new homes are installing air conditioning plants, and some are adding these to their present heating systems. A few are arranging to air condition one or two rooms of the house. The time will come when air conditioning will be a regular feature of "modern conveniences."

Education Costs

Fall Heaviest On Shoulders Of The Rural Population

Due to the unequal distribution of population and of children, education costs fall more heavily on the shoulders of the rural population, says the Brandon Sun. Violent fluctuations in the prices of primary products affect the smaller urban and the rural communities more acutely than they do the large urban centres depending on a more diversified economy. The only solution to this problem seems to lie in the creation of a larger unit of school support with the cost equalized over all the communities in the unit, urban and rural, large and small. Although the province would be the most effective unit, two things stand in the way—the hesitancy of the local school boards to yield their autonomy to provincial governments and the inability of the provinces to assume the greater financial burden involved. A redistribution of responsibilities or powers of taxation among municipalities, province and Dominion is necessary to solve the latter problem and most provinces are obstacles to an equitable solution.

AIR RAID SIRENS MAY NEVER BE USED

Thinks Record Is Safe

But Captain Eytton Believes He Could Travel Even Faster

Captain G. E. T. Eytton, the bespectacled Englishman whose Thunderbolt holds the world's land speed record of 357.5 miles an hour, told the Empire Club luncheon in Toronto: "I am satisfied Great Britain has put this record where it will be difficult to lift by any one outside the country."

The best part of getting the record is when it is all over," according to the man who on Sept. 16 hurtled over the Bonneville Salt Flats, Utah, faster than any human ever before travelled on land.

In a brief, informal address during which he frequently glanced down at his pile of notes and almost as frequently smiled broadly at his own quiet and ironic jokes, Captain Eytton told of the thrills and hard work that go with hanging up a new land speed record.

And while there was no mistaking his quiet pride in the achievement, he did not regard "the magic six miles a minute" as the absolute thing for land. "As far as Thunderbolt is concerned, I am quite confident the car is capable of doing more," he said, adding however, that "a tremendous lot of development work must be done before we shall begin approaching the 400-mile-an-hour mark."

While the greatest thrill for the driver of the record-breaking car was "when it was over," the greatest thrill for the spectator was in the fact the thunderous roar of the speeding car followed it at an interval of one-half mile, he declared.

Germany Needs Wool

Would Like To Exchange Diesel Trucks For Australian Product

The vice-president of a German firm which employs 18,000 people recently arrived in Sydney, Australia, told the Star East where, he said, his firm had received orders for fighting planes, but he refused to disclose which power had given the order. His firm was producing about 40 planes a month for the German air ministry. He had gone to Australia seeking orders for Diesel trucks, built by his firm, in exchange for Australian wool which Germany needed.—Brandon Sun.

Money For Luxuries

Dominion Bureau Of Statistics Gives Figures For 1937

Dominion Bureau of Statistics says Canadians spent something like $190,000,000 in 1937 in three or four luxuries: to wit: For liquor, $108,000,000 ($10 for every man, woman and child in the country); 6,000,000 cigarettes, 123,000,000 cigars; wagered $21,000,000 at race tracks. "It makes one almost believe," says the Ottawa Journal, "that, apart from the unemployment of many, much of our 'hard times' thought is largely psychological."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

OCTOBER 10

REVERENCE FOR GOD

Golden text: Our Father who art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name. Matthew 6:9. Lesson: Exodus 20:7; Matthew 5:33-37; 12:33-37. Devotional reading: Exodus 33:17-23.

Explanations And Comments

The Third Commandment: Reverence for God, Exodus 20:7. Thou shalt not take the name of Jehovah thy God in vain. Name stands for character, personality. In vain means lightly, carelessly. The Jews took the name of God to mean the vocables by which he was called; and because they thought the name Jehovah more sacred than Adonai, Lord, the other name of God, they pronounced the former with the vowels of the latter, "a though the text to be revered was the mere breath of articulated air," and thus slavishly keeping the commandment in the letter, they broke it constantly in the spirit.

This commandment in its full meaning refers to false swearing. In Hebrew it was said to mean of God has been invoked to ratify a promise of a contract; taking God's name in vain means breaking the covenant so ratified. God will not hold men guilty—or nations guilty—who break their solemn covenants.

Swear not at all, Matthew 5:22-27. Again (see verses 21 and 27) we have the same old story of old time. Thou shalt not swear thyself (Thou shalt not swear falsely). In 19:12, but shall perform unto the Lord thine oaths. In Old Testament times an oath was used to make a promise binding. As we have just noted; see also Eccl. 22:11; De. 6:13; Ps. 63:11, etc. In New Testament times the oath was used to excess, and the Pharisees had made the breaking of vows almost withal, as an easy matter. The Talmud declares: If a man makes a vow to abstain from food, wine to him, if he eats and, woe to him if he does not eat! What then must he do? Let him go before the sage and they will absolve him from his vow.

Jesus extended the scope of this third commandment to a prohibition of all oaths of whatsoever sort. Swear not at all; neither by the heaven, nor by the throne of God, nor by the earth, for it is the footstool of his feet; nor by Jerusalem, for it is the city of the great King. Neither shalt thou swear by thy head, for thou canst not make one hair white or black. Even swearing by your head calls God to witness, for every hair is his handiwork, nor is it the city of the great King. If they swore by the heaven or by the earth, or by Jerusalem, then the vow is less binding than if God's name were used. Jesus swept aside the oath entirely. With the oath there were two elements of speech: for a promise attested by an oath was regarded as more binding than the mere word. Members of the kingdom of heaven, Jesus taught, should always speak the truth, there should be no use of their ever using an oath, for their simple "Yes" and "No" should be as binding as if it were used in connection with it. Their word should be as good as their bond.

Adapted For Mine Work

Seismograph Will Be Used By Prospectors For Locating Deposits

Prospectors in Canada's north will soon be totting seismographs in their packcases. Seismographical instruments originally developed to record and locate earthquakes are now being adapted for locating mineral deposits.

Dr. John Patterson of Dominion meteorological bureau at Toronto, expects a big increase in their use in northern Ontario.

Prospectors wishing to explore the mineral possibilities of new territory nowadays put a charge of dynamite as deeply as possible into the ground and station seismographs at a distance. When the charge is set off the instruments record the type of vibrations and their frequency. From these recordings experts are able to determine the type of soil or rock underneath the surface. With increasingly accurate recording mechanisms the seismograph will be able to locate the richer ores all prospectors hope to strike.

A seismograph may be designed for any specific purpose, he explained, such as to record the vibration caused by a train passing over a bridge. Analysis of vibrations is useful to engineers in every branch of construction.

A Foolish Obsession

Suspicion With Which Americans Look On Canadian Money

A Canadian writes to The New York Times in criticism of the suspicion with which Americans look upon Dominion money whereas U.S. bills are readily accepted on this side of the line. It is one of the peculiar traits of many star spangled baronies that they do not regard outside currency of any value and their obsession in this respect is as childlike as it is persistent.—Brantford Expositor.

Ontario Village Sold

Proceeds To Pay Back Wages Of Telephone Operator

The almost-forgotten village of Bowling Green, Ont., in Dufferin county near Orangeville was sold at auction to pay back wages of a telephone operator.

Bowling Green, for the most part, belonged to Henry Edgar, along with a telephone line that roams over the countryside to link up 400 farms. Henry left no will when he died last spring and it was decided to sell the village to pay the back salary of Phyllis Maltby, switchboard operator. Miss Maltby had worked six years without getting any money. Her salary was set at $100 a year.

An old horse named Bill went for $25; an old table brought an even dollar.

A blacksmith shop and a few hours and lots brought the major portion of Miss Maltby's salary.

When they sold the blacksmith shop, 80-year-old George Rayfield stood in the background. He operated the establishment 60 years ago.
